

TAX DEDUCTIBILITY

In order to maintain tax deductibility, trips longer than one week must maintain a service schedule of at least 40 hours a week and trips shorter than one week will need to average about six hours/day of service.

If you're traveling just to serve with OSSO the costs of your international airfare, travel insurance, etc. are likely to be tax deductible. If your trip includes other non-service activities it's likely that your international travel expenses will not be allowed as tax deductible. Either way your program fee with OSSO is considered tax deductible.
